Pahokee Youth Development Center trying to make a difference

By Debra Miller

Staff Reporter
Administrative staff and corporate members of the Pahokee Youth Development Center met recently with community advisory board members, concerned members of the community and city commissioners to discuss the recent negative publicity the center has received.

The 350-bed center opened about two years ago and houses male youth offenders. It is one of only two facilities of this size in the State of Florida.

The center, located at 500
Bay Bottom Road in Pahokee, is run by Correctional Services

The young males, between the ages of 18 and 17, are assigned to the center by the Juvenile Justice Department and have a projected duration of six to nine months at the center. When the young men arrive at the center, they are put through initial health and mental health screenings, is sued center property, given a youth handbook detailing the ules and regulations of the facility and a legal guardian is contacted to let them know the youth are at the facility.

stance aguse, educational test-ing and a comprehensive health and needs assessment. They are then assigned to a treatment team consisting of a unit manager, caseworker, teacher and team leader. Their contract is reviewed bi-weekly and a performance summary is sent to parents, Aftercare offi-cers and the court every 30 days.

Recently, the center has been criticized for holding the young offenders past their scheduled period as well as mistreatment of the offenders and were ac-

Representatives from BellSouth spoke to students at West Technical Education Cente about the development of a new career academy stated to open at the school in the follows:

Freshmen and juniors look forward to new career academy at West Technical Center

West Technical Education enter in Belle Glade was the site of a recent meeting with BellSouth representatives to discuss the development of a new career academy slated for opening in the fall of 1999.

As BellSouth would like to artner in the education and training of high school students preparing them for em-ployment as technicians in the communications industry, representatives from their Key West facility were on hand with details about a similar endeavor, now in its third year, with Key West High School. The January 15 meeting was to familiarize West Tech faculty and administration with Bell-South's objectives, establish a common mission or goal of the academy, set training dates, determine student selection criteria, determine the maximum number of students to participate annually, deter-mine costs involved in the pro-gram, and develop a marketing Strategy.

Chris Phillips described Bell-South's Key West venture as being so successful that one student has even completed the program and become a menter for new students enter-ing it. Although there will be some modifications of the Key West program for the new com-munications service technician academy at West Tech, there are many similarities.

Juniors registered for this program could spend two hours Monday through Friday, or 10 hours per week, on the job, in a paid position, with a BellSouth service technician (ST).

Working with corporate partner BellSouth, West Tech students, could be promoted to higher paying, full-time posi-tions with BellSouth upon completion of the academy program. BellSouth also make continuing education available to its employees, so West Tech students will qualify for this benefit after they become full-time employees of BellSouth. This spring, academy teach-ers will be orienting BellSouth mentors to the West Tech environment. Likewise, during the summer, the electricity teacher and guidance counselor from Tech will participate in on-the-job training with Bell-South.

A reception is scheduled at West Tech on March 23 at 6:30 p.m. for persons interested in more information about this other West Tech . You may also contact the Guidance Department at 996-4942 for additional information.

After a furious start, it does appear that Old Man Winter has petered out. Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and other, northern towns were buried in snow back in early January.

Since last summer, NOAA data buoys have recorded a significant drop in the ocean's temperature, signaling the for-milicant drop in the ocean's temperature, signaling the formation of what scientists call La Nina. The La Nina the opposite of the better known El Nino - is characterized by unsually cold sea surface temperatures in the equatorial Pacific.

The water temperature -whether it's cold or warm -plays an important role in di-recting the steering currents in the upper atmosphere. And it's the steering currents - the jet stream - that determines the weather.

During a La Nina, the jet stream is often found traversing the northern part of the country, triggering heavy snow and drawing artic air into the upper midwest, Great Lakes and northeast. With all the ac-tion up north, La Nina winters in Florida tend to be relatively quiet, producing a warm, dry pattern terns are not as clear-cut, often anaking it difficult to predict. That seems to be the explanation for January's topsy-turry weather pattern and it's why La Nina experts believe winter is far from over.

After all, Pacific Ocean seasurface temperatures are cur-U-rently 2 to 5 degrees cooler than normal, the coldest temperatures in a decade. And NOAA's Climate Prediction Center believes further intensification of cold episade conditions is possible across the equatorial Pacific.

Skin cells in overdrive

(NAPS)—It has been said "psoriasis does not take lives; it ruins them." The psychological stress can cause as much anguish for people with psoriasis as the physical discomfort. On a regular basis, they must face the unpredictability of their appearance, the awkwardness of leaving a trail of flakes of skin wherever they go, and the embarrassment of strangers staring and whispering. They often try to hide the skin under clothes or make-up. Psoriasis, can have a devastating psychological impact, sometimes causing a complete withdrawal from society. Nepotism at city hall?

"Let me start out with a thank you to those responsible for the beautiful Christmas decorations in Pahokee this past season. It changed Pahokee into something that we all loved for a short time. It is unfortunate that loved for a short time. It is unfortunate that this is just an outward appearance. Until something is done to change the heart of Pahokee the facade will only crumble.

I had hopes for a change with some new faces, unfortunately, selfishness is a priority and not what's best for Pahokee. When you have a new commissioner that has a city car for his use and no one questions why, when he has had his son and another nephew put on the careful circuit. for his use and no one questions why, when he has had his son and another nephew put on the payroll since his election and no one asks why, when you have a public services director; that can hire all of his kids and no one questions why; and why he can drive a city vehicle miles out of town to where he lives and ho one says, "hey, what's wrong with this picture," there is no future. Frankly, I'm tired of hearing what Pahokee could be. Everything it could be cost us taxpayers money and what do we have to show for it? Sidewalks that were never completed properly; streets that were half done and are already in disrepair; a street sweeper that never gets used because it is inefficient. Pahokee can't stand much more of this draining it is taking.

You probably wonder, why take this up in

You probably wonder, why take this up in the Speak Out and not at city hall?

Well, have you ever tried to talk to someone at city hall? You fall on deaf ears. Do any of the commissioners have any answers?

Pahokee City Manager Ken Schenck responds: I would like to assure the caller that his or her hopes for an improved Pahokee aren't misplaced. The heart of Pahokee is its arent mispiacce. The neart of Panokee is its people and with all individuals working for the improvements, I believe it will happen, not overnight, but it will happen. The commission car in question was used for a variety of reasons. However, because of the perception of misuse, the commission has voted unanimously to return the car to the county. As to the employees, the city commissioners have no authority to hire anyone. We advertised properly and received many applications for the positions. We hired the most qualified for the jobs. For one position we needed a tractor driver and the only one who needed a tractor driver and the only one who had any experience was a relative of an employee. Just as we would not hire someone because they are related, I don't believe we serve the city if we don't hire qualified employees just because they're related. We authorized the vehicle use out of town for several reasons. The employee is on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week It is less costly to the city to use a city vehicle than pay mileage when he is called in for an emergency, which happens quite often. There are other reasons which I would be glad to explain if the caller would come to my office. The streets and sidewould come to my office. which I would be grant to explain it the catter would come to my office. The streets and side-walks are being done as fast as possible and as we-have the funds. The only way to move faster would be to increase taxes. We have just leased a street sweeper from the county. Previous problems were due to the shortage of employees, not a problem with the unit. I would be glad to discuss these concerns or other if the caller is interested."

Editor's note: Denny Abbott, administrator at the C.L. Brumback Health Center responds to a Speak Out complaint that ran two weeks ago about services at the center. He says, "We ago about services at the center. He says, we at the C.L. Brumback Health Center are com-mitted to providing the best health care possi-ble to our patients. We have made a number of building and service improvements to meet the needs of the community. We have also established a Customer Service Committee to continually identify improvements we can make for our patients

I want the community to know that we take our public trust very seriously. I would encourage any person who has a complaint to see or call me at 996-1600. All concerns will be thoroughly investigated and, when appro-priate, corrective action will be taken."

Speak Out continues on Page 5.

Letters to the editor

Clinton lied, plain and simple

When I was eighteen I registered for the draft when I was eighteen I registered for the dath and to vote, i signed up as a Republican. It was simple. I wrote my preference and it was done. No oath was taken, no blood was drawn, I became a Republican, and, for the record, a moderate

I made these comments because long before I was legally allowed to vote I had taken an oath and tried my best to follow the law. I was a Boy Scout, and then an Eagle Scout. These are Scout, and then an Eagle Scout. These are achievements that my family and I and other families across this country are proud of, and should be. It taught me values, values that many people today seem to feel are irrelevant. To be Trustworthy, Obedient, or "On my honor I will do my best tod on y duty to God and my country." These are excerpts from the Scout Law and Oath; both I swore to long before I knew what a Republican or Democrat was. These are my values, and many others throughtung the state of the sta

Many people say we should just get on with business and let the impeachment process drop to the wayside. People say life is good and the economy is doing fine. So why impeach a President who has allowed these things to happen? Many people say we should just get on with dent who has allowed these things to happen?

A gentleman by the name of Greenspan has more control over the economy than the President does; he just takes the credit. Because we are gaining financially, does that mean we lose our values? This is not about the sexual life of our President, it is about the fact that he lied under oath, and he broke his oath to the country when he lied and obstructed justice.

What are we to teach our children? How do we set examples? Are the things like the Scout Law and Oath and/or other oaths garbage? No! Plain and simple, he lied. If he had told truth originally this wold all be over and he

Scruggs captures 171 pound district title

Senior Glades Day wrestler Donnie Scruggs represented his school well at the District 14 4A Championships on Sat., when he captured the 171 pound weight class title.

Donnie is the lone member of the Glades Day team, yet he did finish above two other teams in the District.

teams in the District.
The, 171 pound class was by far the most competitive class in the tournament. Three of the seated wrestlers was past State Qualifiers and last year's 171 pound District Champion.
Donnie pinned Benjamin's Ryan Hodge in his first match of the day in under one minute. In the semi-finals he faced Forest Hill's Mike Smith, a state qualifier, less than a minute-later it was over and quee match-up between Donnie (15-1) and last years champion Rick Rimes (25-2). Early on, Rick shocked everyone by putting Donnie on his back, but Donnie soon recovered and the Donnie soon recovered and the pace was fast and furious. Then, halfway into the second two minute period, Donnie put Rick on his back and he would not get off. The match ended with a pin fall in 3:36 and Donnie was the Champion! Donnie will compete on Friday and Saturday in (the Regional Championships) at Royal Palm Beach High School. His goal will be to repeat as Regional Champion and move on to the State Tournament in Lakeland.

Palm Beach Pops launches Grammy Concert Series for children

County students will experience their own version of Grammy magic when Bob Lappin and The Palm Beach Pops joins the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS) and the Palm Beach County School District to bring the Grammy Concert Series for Children to the area this week.
"Unfortunately, school music programs are often the first casualties of budget cuts, leaving chil-dren with little or no music education," ex-plained Mr. Lappin, plained Mr. Lappin, music director of The Palm Beach Pops. "We're excited The Palm beach was selected by NARAS to reach out with meaningful program that addresses need."

Developed by NARAS Foundation, the national Grammy Concert Series for Children curriculum is a comprehensive classroom and concert program that targets unprivledged children in third through grades

The Palm Beach program is the only program in the country this year. In this inaugural session, The Palm Beach Pops will present a series of four concerts at each of the participating schools, including Rosenwald including Rosenwald Elementary in South Bay and Pioneer Elémentary in Park Belle Glade.

Concerts will take place within an eight week period and began on Feb. 16 with concerts at Rosenwald and Pioneer

The series culminates with a full concert performance for students, con-ducted by Bob Lappin, at the Kravis Center for the Performing Arts on Tuesday, March 23.

This year, the in-schoolconcert series will focus on melody, featuring such composers as Mozart, Duke Ellington and George Gershwin.

Each of the school concerts will spotlight four five musicians from the Palm Beach Pops and "Music Man" (Lanny Smith) will emcee the entire series.

In advance of the series, The Palm Beach Pops provided teachers a comprehensive study guide to prepare students for the concerts.

The teachers work with students to create their own melodies, with each class selecting one stu-dent's melody for the

Some 2,000 Palm Beach Pops to play at an inschool concert

While the focus this year is on melody, The Palm Beach Pops is laying the groundwork for future growth of the Grammy Concert Series for Children.

The second year of the program will focus on rhythm and the third year will focus on harmo-

The Grammy program is the latest in a series of educational outreach efforts introduced by Bob Lappin and The Palm Beach Pops, Kids in the Balcony provides oppor-tunities for local stu-dents to attend Palm Beach Pops performances at no cost.

exceptionally gifted exceptionally gifted young musicians to perform with the orchestra. Last year, Rehearsal Time, a program that invites students from local schools to attend rehearsals, became an official educational program of The Palm Beach Pops.

Under the leadership and artistic direction of Bob Lanin, The Palm Beach Pops has emerged one of the country's leading Pops orchestras:

Communtiy foundation awards $50,504 in grants to organizations in the Glades

The Community Foundation for Palm Beach and Martin Counties has awarded grants totaling $50,504 to three nonprofit organizations serving Belle Glade and other western Palm B County communities. Beach

The awards were approved recently by the Community Foundation's board of directors.

The grants were among awards totalling over $736,000 that were made to 50 nonprofit organizations serving the two counîn categories such as: Arts & Crafts, Community and Economic Development, Education, Environment, Development, Health and Human Services, Human and Race Relations and Intergenerational Programs.

The awards went to organizations that applied as part of the Community Foundation's Fall 1998 funding cycle. Applications are reviewed by staff and a volunteer distribution committee before being submitted to he board or directors for final consider ation.

The majority of the grants are drawn from income generated by unrestricted funds within the Community Foundation's endowment, while a smaller percentage of the grants are made from "donor advised" and "field of interest" funds designed to target a particular geo-graphic location or community priority.

The grants represent the first round of awards made during the Community Foundation's current fiscal year. Grants from the Spring 1999 funding cycle will be announced in May. In 1997-1998, grants were made totaling nearly $1.4
